

Seminar 3: “Gut microbiota & inflammation”

Tuesday the 13th of January 2009 from 13.00-16.00
KU Life, Rolighedsvej 30, 1958 Frederiksberg, Room 507+510

Winter School 2008-09: “The role of the gastrointestinal tract for development of allergy and obesity”

Program

| Time | Subject | Speaker |
|-------------|---|--|
| 13.00-13.10 | Welcome & short summary of 2 nd Winter School seminar | Anders Permin, Head of Department, Center for Environment and Toxicology, DHI |
| 13.10-13.35 | Gut microbiota in humans | Tine Rask Licht, Senior Scientist, DTU Food |
| 13.35-14.10 | The impact of the intestinal flora on rodent as models for human inflammatory disease | Axel Kornerup, Professor, University of Copenhagen, Department of Disease Biology |
| 14.10-14.40 | Coffee break & networking | |
| 14.40-15.15 | The immune system of the gut: Development, homeostasis, and response | Hanne Frøkiær, Professor, University of Copenhagen, Department of Basic Sciences and Environment |
| 15.15-15.50 | Response of the gut and the gut flora on pathogenic invasion | Karen Kroghfelt, Professor, Statens Serum Institut |
| 15.50-16.00 | Summing up and final discussion | Anders Permin, Head of Department, Center for Environment and Toxicology, DHI |

Participation is open for all interested and is free of charge. Register online on www.oresundfood.org, or contact Susanne Knoth (suk@dhigroup.com, +4551572031) or Mie Bendtsen (mib@oresundfood.org, +4528754092) no later than January 8th 2009. Language will be decided on the day of the seminar based on the participants.