Øresund IT gives input to EU's ICT Manifesto

Øresund IT is invited as a strategic advisor for EU. A think tank has just meet in Brussels with the purpose of identifying future ICT trends, which are important for regional economic development.

Information and Communication technology is of great importance for Europe's competitive performance, innovation ability and industrial development. That is why Øresund IT is invited to be a strategic advisor for EU.

- We are proud that EU has chosen us, as their strategic advisor and we are happy to share our knowledge and experience. Europe can learn a lot from how we perform in the Øresund Region when it comes to the development of Information and Communication technologies, says Peter Höjerback, CEO, Øresund IT.

In the think tank key subjects will be discussed, which are related to how organizations advance innovation and technologies. The think tank will report the results in a ICT Manifesto for regions, which will be published in the spring.

- We are looking forward to an exciting cooperation in EU with other powerful European regions, says Peter Höjerback.

Besides from Øresund IT are Tekes from Finland, Enterprise Ireland from Sydøst Irland, Trentino-as-a-lab from Italien, Asturia from Spanien and Nordrhein-Westphalen from Tyskland also a part of the think tank.
